Your letter of 15 November 1959 to Mr. Dulles has been referred to this office for reply regarding employment opportunities.

We appreciate your sincere desire to serve your country as a member of this organization and regret that we have as yet not identified a position in which you could realize this goal. Our recruitment is restricted almost entirely to employing clerical and junior officer workers, and other openings are infrequent. When we do have a more specialized requirement, the demands of the position ordinarily require skills and experience in intelligence work which are pertinent to the particular job to be done. Our needs are subject to change and this is not to say that there is no prospect of an opening for you, but the projection of our requirements for the next few years does not suggest an opening which would be in line with your background and interests.

Thank you for your thoughtful letter. We shall be glad to advise you promptly if an opportunity for you to serve with us should arise.

Sincerely,

G. M. Stewart
Director of Personnel
